INTRODUCTORY.

We present to the citizens of NORTH ADAMS the second Directory of the village, which we have made up after a full canvass of all the residences, and a careful compilation of miscellaneous matter; and trust it will meet with that generous favor which was accorded to our first issue of 1872.

The changes in residences have been very many; showing the importance of the present issue, in order to give an accurate idea of location. Many new business firms have been established, and several old ones are defunct. So that the present volume, in comparison with our first issue, will show that North Adams is becoming essentially "citified," in this matter, and demands almost yearly a new Directory, for the convenience of all classes.

We are pleased to notice a steady and healthy growth in all branches of manufacturing and mercantile interests—pointing to the time, not far distant, when this "Pocket among the Mountains" shall become metropolitan in its character, and be clothed with all the honors and distinctions of a young and thriving City.

Men of wealth and enterprise are investing their capital for the development of its growth, and there is no reason why NORTH ADAMS should not outrank many towns of greater pretensions.

Now that the great "Bore" is an acknowledged fact, and the enterprise of the Shanlys' has consummated what was considered an absurdity only a few years since, still another grand opening is afforded and an opportunity presented, for additional sources of prosperity to this thriving village.

We cannot close without expressing our thanks to the merchants and others for their liberal patronage of the present Directory and their words of commendation for our first issue. We shall on the present occasion, as in our future editions, give the Directory a gratuitous circulation in neighboring towns and hang it in public places, where every advertiser will derive a decided advantage and reap a good reward for every dollar invested.

To James C. Angell, Esq., editor and publisher of the Hoosac Valley News, we are especially indebted for courtesies extended to us, and favors shown through the columns of his valuable journal. We are glad to find the "News" meeting with that degree of prosperity which it so richly deserves. May its subscribers roll up among the thousands and its publisher continue to receive the commendations of an appreciating public.

To Messrs. James T. Robinson & Son, the editors of the Transcript, who cheered us on our arduous work, and spoke good words for us in the columns of their paper, we extend our grateful thanks; and if good sound articles and a courteous editorial corps are elements of Newspaper success, then the success of the Transcript is assured beyond a doubt.

We would suggest the propriety of a thorough system of street numbering which would not only be a great convenience to the citizens, but also enable us, in future issues, to give more definiteness to the location of residences.

Respectfully,

J. RIDLEY.

Table Napkins at Haslam & Turpin's.

Where shall I find Good Stationery?

Is the question often asked.

WE ANSWER,

In the Post-Office Stationery Store

YOU CAN FIND A NICE ASSORTMENT OF

FIRST CLASS GOODS,

And business men will do well to call, for they can buy better goods at the same price, than at any other store in town.

Also, you can leave your order for any kind of

Printed Envelopes, Bill or Letter Heads,

— AND —

SHAW

Will get them for you; and those who wish will always find all kinds of

COLORED AND FANCY WRITING PAPERS.

— ALSO, —

Pens, Ink, Pen Holders, Lead Pencils, Blank Books, Pass Books, Memoranda Books, Pocket Books, Playing Cards, Writing Desks, Hair Oil, Perfumes, Confectionery, and a thousand and one things too numerous to mention.

DIARIES AND POCKET BOOKS,

Are our specialty, and we do not allow any to excel us. Call and see if such is not the truth.

W. F. WILDER & CO.,

AGENTS OF

SINGER SEWING MACHINES,

— FOR —

Berkshire County.

Office at ATKINS & STEDMAN'S, NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

SONG OF THE SINGER.

In these times of delusion, when men won't abstain
From "ways that are dark, and tricks that are vain,"
How diverse the opinions to which men incline,
How few from beginnings the end can divine,
Some seek to be modest, some choose to be gay,
Some blow for Hunter and some for McKay,
But one thing is granted and all must concede
That the "Singer" Machine is monarch indeed.

To those who have tried it I need not explain
And thousands there are who its merits maintain;
Look well to your interests 'twill do you no harm,
For like Renne's Specific "it works like a charm;"
It hems, and it ruffles, it tucks and it fells,
It embroiders and fringes for fastidious young belles,
In the heaviest of beavers, and the finest of lace,
Its rivals are distanced every heat in the race.

Its sales are enormous, a million and more
Make merry the hearts so cheerless before;
Across the Atlantic, beyond the Gulf Stream,
On the far Western prairies, though strange it may seem,
It is hailed as the champion the wide world around,
And with laurels the brightest, it is everywhere crowned.
To limit circulation and choke down its praise,
You must chain up your lightning and suppress your railways.

'Tis an age of invention, men's brains are on fire
And science is reaching for a foothold yet higher,
We have horse-rakes and mowers that are A No. one
We have reapers and threshers that can't be outdone.
You farmers must have them to save labor you say,
And 'tis right that you should, but one thing I pray,
That while your own wants are so plain to be seen,
Don't forget that your wife wants a Sewing Machine.

Are you doubting and waiting, and fear to invest
The sixty-five dollars without any test?
You can have one on trial a fortnight or so,
And if you don't like it we'd have you to know,
We'll take it away without oath or complaint,
And charge not a dime, be you devil or saint.
What more can you ask, or what more can we do?
Is a question that now is submitted to you.

Is the amount so prodigious, and the times so severe,
That the way to obtain it you cannot see clear?
How the clouds break away when you once understand
That five dollars per month is all we demand.
O, fathers who have children, and husbands who have wives
Whose presence makes cheerful each day of your lives,
They've work in abundance 'tis plain to be seen,
Besides making your shirts with no Sewing Machine.

Then away with excuses and a few dollars invest
In a Sewing Machine that shrinks from no test,
In the home of the rich they're an ornament indeed,
In the cot of the poor how pressing the need.
Would you evince your love for the one you adore,
Go at once to our office in the Crockery Store,
The agent is Wilder, and his champion Machine
At 2 Martin's Block, may always be seen.
